H. Rodger Harvey Receives Fulbright U.S. Scholar Award to Norway as Arctic Distinguished Chair

The U.S. Department of State and the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board are pleased to announce that H. Rodger Harvey of Old Dominion University, Norfolk Virginia has received a Fulbright U.S. Scholar Program award to Norway as the Distinguished Arctic Chair for 2017/2018, one of the most prestigious appointments in the Fulbright Scholarship Program. During his exchange Professor Harvey will work with University of Tromsø colleagues on the marginal sea ice research project ArcticSIZE to study food web interactions, provide lectures about advanced food web tracer studies and interact with the Norwegian science community on Arctic marine system issues.

Professor Harvey is one of over 800 U.S. citizens who will teach, conduct research, and/or provide expertise abroad for the 2017-2018 academic year through the Fulbright U.S. Scholar Program. Recipients of Fulbright awards are selected on the basis of academic and professional achievement as well as record of service and demonstrated leadership in their respective fields.

The Fulbright Program is the flagship international educational exchange program sponsored by the U.S. government and is designed to build lasting connections between the people of the United States and the people of other countries. The Fulbright Program is funded through an annual appropriation made by the U.S. Congress to the U.S. Department of State. Participating governments and host institutions, corporations, and foundations around the world also provide direct and indirect support to the Program, which operates in over 160 countries worldwide.

Since its establishment in 1946 under legislation introduced by the late U.S. Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, the Fulbright Program has given more than 370,000 students, scholars, teachers, artists, and scientists the opportunity to study, teach and conduct research, exchange ideas, and contribute to finding solutions to shared international concerns.

Fulbrighters address critical global in all disciplines, while building relationships, knowledge, and leadership in support of the long-term interests of the United States. Fulbright alumni have achieved distinction in many fields, including 57 who have been awarded the Nobel Prize, 82 who have received Pulitzer Prizes, and 37 who have served as a head of state or government.
