PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT:
The Department of History offers funding for graduate student research expenses associated with the completion of a thesis in the M.A. program in History. The Graduate Student Research Awards can be for any amount up to $1000. Applicants must have formed their thesis committee, have a well-defined thesis topic, and carry out the research within six months of the date of the award. Students who are pursuing an M.A. in another department (Humanities, etc.) may also apply if their primary thesis advisor is a faculty member in the Department of History, but preference will be given to students in the M.A. program in History.

Applications should include:
- A one-page (double-spaced) Research Justification describing the purpose of the research funding, a brief summary of the proposed research, and a list of archive(s) to be visited.
- A Budget Outline listing necessary costs to complete the research, such as travel expenses and costs incurred accessing primary sources, in person or via an online database. All spending must be in compliance with University and Commonwealth policies and guidelines for acceptable costs. Applicants may apply for funding in any amount to a maximum of $1,000.
- A brief Recommendation Letter from the thesis advisor supporting the proposed research plan.

Only completed applications will be considered. Applications can be submitted at any time, and will be reviewed and funded on a rolling basis.
