It is my pleasure to welcome you to the MPA Program. As the Chair of the School of Public Service at Old Dominion University, I am excited about the opportunity to help shape the development of your leadership and career advancement opportunities. Our MPA program was established in response to increasing concerns about the role of government and nonprofit organizations in meeting the challenges of governance in the 21st century, and the corresponding need for training managerial talent to manage and lead in such organizations. The School of Public Service seeks to leveraging its distinct strengths of an educational model that integrates teaching, research and community service to prepare you for a career in public service, and to apply theory to practice in government and nonprofit management. Our students often work alongside faculty to produce applied research that enhances student learning while producing immediate impacts in the practitioner community. To this end, we have prepared hundreds of student like you for positions in government and nonprofit organizations.

Our MPA program is designed to educate managers and leaders in the government and nonprofit sectors that are increasingly being called upon to address expanding social needs. Key elements of the program include:

- course offerings from a multidisciplinary perspective to prepare students for leadership positions in the public and nonprofit sectors
- Graduate Certificates in: Public Procurement and Contract Management, Nonprofit Management, Public Administration; and
- coursework that combines theory and practice relevant to leadership in the context of 21st century opportunities and challenges

We invite you to take advantage of the many professional development opportunities to complement the academic component of your program of study by joining the Graduate Student Association, attending nonprofit and local government career panels, or participating in a public service project. I am looking forward to working with you to make your experience at the School of Public Service enjoyable, engaging and educational.

Sincerely,
Samuel L. Brown, Ph.D.

The ODU MPA Faculty and Staff welcome you to the 2022-23 School Year!

We are excited to begin a new year with those who are beginning their MPA journey, those who are continuing coursework, and those who will soon be completing their program, venturing out, and sharing their expertise with the world. The last few years have delivered unique challenges for those in public service and public administration. Old Dominion University School of Public Service, Master of Public Administration Program remains dedicated to preparing students to lead in today’s diverse, multi-sector environment with excellence. This school year, students will develop critical thinking and practical communication skills while navigating solutions to some of the most complex problems of our times. We firmly believe ODU MPAers are up to the task!

If you have any questions about the Program or need assistance, please do not hesitate to reach out to me at vcarnegi@odu.edu or 757-683-5589.

Good luck with your courses! Have a great year!
