AWARD OF TENURE TO A FACULTY MEMBER

RESOLVED, that upon the recommendation of the Academic and Research Advancement Committee, the Board of Visitors approves the award of tenure to Dr. Barbara Kraj as Associate Professor of Medical Diagnostic and Translational Sciences in the College of Health Sciences, effective July 25, 2016.

Salary: $95,000 for 10 months
Rank: Associate Professor of Medical Diagnostic and Translational Sciences

The following contains my recommendation for the initial appointment with tenure of Dr. Barbara Kraj as Associate Professor in the School of Medical Diagnostics and Translational Sciences in the College of Health Sciences. Dr. Kraj received an M.S. in Biology/Molecular Biology (1991) from University of Silesia, Katowice, Poland, graduate certificate in Medical Technology (2004) from Medical College of Georgia, Augusta, GA (currently known as Augusta University), and Ph.D. in Health Related Sciences/Clinical Laboratory Science (2015) from Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond, VA. She was an Assistant Professor (2005-2012) in the Department of Medical Laboratory, Imaging and Radiologic Sciences at Augusta University before she was awarded tenure and promoted to the rank of Associate Professor (2012-2016) at the same institution.

The ODU Faculty Handbook states "The main purposes of tenure are to recognize the performance of faculty members who have given years of dedicated service to the university, to protect academic freedom, and to enable the university to retain a permanent faculty of distinction in order to accomplish its mission." [Faculty Handbook, p. 44]. The Faculty Handbook policy on Initial Appointment of Teaching and Research Faculty provides for an initial appointment with tenure provided that the "request for an initial appointment with tenure must first be initiated by the chair, voted on by the departmental tenure committee, and approved in writing by the Dean." The policy also says: "Normally, an initial appointment with tenure will be granted only to a faculty member who already achieved a distinguished academic reputation and holds a tenured position at another institution."

Recommendations in support of tenure at the rank of Associate Professor for Dr. Barbara Kraj were received from the departmental, college, and university promotion and tenure committees, as well as, from the department chair and the college dean. This appointment is recommended unanimously by the Promotion and Tenure Committee of the School of Medical Diagnostics and Translational Sciences (5-0), the Chair, by the Promotion and Tenure Committee of the College of Health Sciences (5-0), and by the University Promotion and Tenure Committee (6-0). Based on my independent evaluation of the materials submitted, including the above recommendations, it is my judgment that Dr. Kraj easily meets the standards for tenure at the rank of Associate Professor in the School of Medical Diagnostics and Translational Sciences at Old Dominion University.

HAN P. BAO

Han Bao received a bachelor's, Master of Science, and Ph.D., all in industrial engineering, from the University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia. He joined Old Dominion University as the Mitsubishi Kasei Endowed Professor, initially in the Department of Engineering Management, from 1992 to 1997, and then in the Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering. Recognition of his accomplishments in teaching, research and service include the ASEE/NASA Faculty Fellowship for three consecutive summers of 1994 to 1996, the Honorary Membership of the International Advisory Board for Graduate Programs in Manufacturing Management at the University of South Australia in 1996, the Award of Excellence in Industrial Partnering from the Batten College of Engineering and Technology in 2000, the Award of American Society for Mechanical Engineering Faculty Advisor in 2002, a Certificate of Excellence in Promoting Undergraduate Research, and an appointment as U.S. Scholar for the Vietnam Education Foundation in 2015-2016.

Bao served as the major professor for 20 master's and 14 doctoral students at ODU. He also served as co-director for a doctoral student at the University of New South Wales, Sydney during his sabbatical leave at that university. His administrative experience includes the directorship of the Ship Maintenance, Repair and Operations Institute from 2006 to 2014, the chairing of the mechanical engineering Promotion and Tenure Committee from 2005 to 2008, member of the Faculty Senate from 2009 to 2013, and graduate program director for the Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering from 2013 until retirement.

Bao's research has been focused on manufacturing systems and optimization of production processes. He has 112 published papers and technical reports, made 12 presentations at international scientific meetings, and has received 36 grants and contracts totaling over $ 2.9 M.

KENNETH BROWN

Ken Brown received a B.A. in chemistry from Syracuse University and a Ph.D. in chemistry from Brown University. He joined Old Dominion as an associate professor of chemistry in 1982 and achieved the rank of professor in 1988. Recognition of his accomplishments in teaching, research and service include the ODU Faculty Research Award, NASA-Langley Co-Inventor of the year (twice), An Invention of the Year Award from Popular Science Magazine as well as two technology transfer awards from both the federal laboratory consortium and NASA-Langley.

Brown has served as the major research advisor for eight master's and doctoral students at Old Dominion University. He also served as co-advisor for a doctoral student from the College of William and Mary. Brown's administrative experience includes a stint as chair of the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry from 1996-2006. During that period the Ph.D. program in chemistry was begun.

Brown's research concerns catalyst development for the extension of the lifetime of gas lasers, the catalytic reduction of automotive emission and application of the developed materials as the active element in gas sensors. He has 10 patents, 99 published papers and technical reports, received 20 grant and contract awards totaling over $5M, and made 109 presentations at scientific meetings or invited seminars.

DAVID F. HARNAGE

David F. Harnage returned to higher education in 2011 as the Chief Operating Officer at Old Dominion University after working in the private sector to lead campus initiatives in public safety, community relations and operational coordination. He has successfully led several construction projects to include the New Education Building and the Broderick Dining Commons and developed the new campus master plan. He worked closely with President Broderick and the Vice Presidents to develop and execute the annual operating budget for the University.

Harnage joined Moseley Architects in 2005 after retiring from a 33-year career in higher education. He was responsible for business development in the higher education market and served on project teams that required his experience and expertise. He worked with university administrators on assessing campus conditions and helping institutions plan for their future capital program. During his time at Moseley, Harnage developed the largest account in the firm's history.

From 2002 until 2005 Harnage served as the Senior Vice President and Chief Fiscal Officer at Towson University. He served as a member of the executive leadership team with responsibilities for financial administration including budget development and management. Additional responsibilities included financial services, human resources, office of technology services, facilities management, auxiliary services, parking services, procurement, printing, mail services, public safety and environmental health and safety. In addition to planning the university's multi-million dollar operations budget, he was responsible for capital planning including a new campus master plan and supporting a $750 million capital plan.

From 2000 to 2002, Harnage served as the Executive Vice President for Administration and Finance at Longwood College. Accomplishments at Longwood College included enhancing cash reserves by $1.3 million in 12 months, managing recovery efforts from a major fire that damaged or destroyed 200,000 square feet of campus buildings, restructuring the budget planning and reporting system and after updating the campus master plan, developing a broad-based six-year capital plan.

During his employment at Old Dominion University, from 1985 to 2000, Harnage held several positions with the most recent being Vice President for Administration and Finance and a computer science instructor. His most memorable accomplishment was the revised campus master plan, which included a 75-acre campus expansion and construction of buildings valued at $150 million, planning and constructing an extension campus called the Virginia Beach Higher Education Center, an extensive campus beautification program, and enhancing University business practices to comply with Commonwealth audit standards.

Harnage has been recognized with the following awards: Phi Kappa Phi, 1983; Who's Who in the Computer Industry, 1990; Beta Gamma Sigma, 1999; Executive of the Year, Towson Business Association, 2004; Administrator of the Year, Towson University SGA, 2004; David F. Harnage Computing and Data Center, Old Dominion University Board of Visitors, 2009.

He received an M.Ed. in Educational Administration and a B.B.A. in Business Administration from the University of Georgia and holds an A.S. in Computer Science from Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College in Tifton, GA.

JOHN F. KEELING

John Keeling, senior lecturer of management, received an M.B.A. and a B.S. in civil engineering from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. He joined Old Dominion University as an instructor of management in 1992. Prior to that time, Keeling served as a 1st Lt. in the U.S. Army and in management for 28 years with the Bell Telephone Companies, where he was the Area Manager for Eastern, VA for Verizon. While in that position, he was active in community service including serving as Chairman of the Board for The Hampton Roads Chamber of Commerce, The United Way, and, WHRO Public Television.

During his 24 years with Old Dominion, Keeling taught classes in Principles of Management, Organizational Behavior, Human Resource Management, and Labor Relations Management. Many of his classes were very large and presented through distance learning. On two occasions, he was selected as the University's outstanding instructor in TELETECHNET. He served a brief tour as director for the college's Executive Development Center, and, on numerous occasions, was the emcee for the college's awards banquet.

KURT J. MALY

Kurt J. Maly received the Dipl. Ing. degree from the Technical University of Vienna, Austria, and the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the Courant Institute of Mathematical Sciences, New York University, New York. He joined Old Dominion University in 1985 and has been Kaufman Professor and Eminent Scholar since 1991 and 1989 respectively. Maly served as chair of the Computer Science Department from 1985-2007.

Prior to joining Old Dominion, Maly was at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, both as faculty member and chair of the Computer Science Department. He has been Visiting Professor (Honorary Professor) at Chengdu University of Science and Technology, Chengdu, China, Hefei University of Technology, Hefei, China, and Guangxi Computer Institute, Nanning, China.

Maly's research interests include modeling and simulation, very high-performance networks, protocols, reliability, interactive multimedia remote instruction, Internet resource access, and software maintenance. His research has been supported by DARPA, NSF, NASA, CIT, ARPA and the U.S. Navy for well over $10 million. He has published over 250 refereed papers, has graduated 20 Ph.D. students, and has obtained two patents.

MARY MARSHALL

Mary Marshall received a B.A. in philosophy from Old Dominion University, an M.F.A. in theatre arts from the University of Arizona, and a Ph.D. in philosophy from the University of Virginia. She joined Old Dominion as a visiting lecturer in 2003 and was promoted to senior lecturer in 2012. She taught philosophy courses at Virginia State University in 1996, 1999, and 2000 through 2002. Her teaching experience in philosophy includes Introduction to Philosophy, Introduction to Ethics, and Aesthetics.

Marshall's philosophical presentations include: "The Art of Dance: Its Divergence from Aesthetic Sport" presented at University of Maryland, Undergraduate Colloquium in 1989; "Meaning and Mudpies: Truth and Fiction in the Arts" presented at Blandy Farm in 1999 and at the Virginia Philosophical Association in 1999, and "A Philosophical Look at Dance and Music," a lecture at the sonata Music Club in Norfolk, 2013.

Marshall's particular philosophical interests include how meaning can be conveyed through dance without words, depiction of stories and ethics through dance without program notes—generally how dance can convey concepts through movement and music alone. Her M.F.A. recital, through original choreography and design, told the story of James Joyce's The Dead in "Distant Music," and Limehouse Blues took a comedic look at the upper class in the 1920s.

SHARON M. MARTIN

Sharon M. Martin received a B.S. from Marshall University, an M.H.E. from the Medical College of Georgia, and an Ed.D. from The University of Georgia. She joined Old Dominion University in 2005 as a Distance Learning Site Director and later served as Community and Student Success Director at the ODU site located at Central Virginia Community College (CVCC). In 2013 she was appointed as Assistant Professor (Adjunct) in the College of Arts & Letters. She was a certified Master Advisor.

During her time at ODU, Martin maintained a student-focused approach to recruiting, advising, and teaching students to ensure their academic and personal success. ODU's Shining Star Recognition, a student-nominated award, served as a testimony to her dedication to students.

As a consummate professional, Martin's excellent leadership at the CVCC Site was evident as enrollment reached its highest level. She stressed teamwork by developing and sharing her leadership philosophy generated as a result of her successful participation in the Leadership Lynchburg program from the Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce. Her strong interaction with the community college yielded many tangible results, directly benefiting students. Martin elevated Old Dominion University to greater visibility within the community and service area.

Martin's scholarly activities were manifested in many presentations and training sessions at the local, state, and regional level. Examples include presentations at VCCS New Horizons, ODU's Faculty Summer Institute, and the National Academic Advising Association (NACADA). Her mastery of educational technology and creative skills benefited the entire site-based system enabling more efficient and effective management of operational information and resources, as well as enhancement of online teaching. She was awarded the Technology in Education (TIE) award from the VCCS.

SUSAN MURRAY

Susan Murray received a B.S. in Nursing and an M.S. in Nursing from Old Dominion University. She also completed graduate work in education and psychology and earned a post-masters certificate in nursing curriculum development. She began working for the School of Nursing in 1983 as a clinical nursing instructor and worked as adjunct clinical faculty from 1989-2003. In 2003, Murray was hired into a full-time faculty position as lecturer for the undergraduate nursing program and was promoted to senior lecturer in 2009. While serving as a clinical instructor for undergraduate nursing students was her passion, she also assumed the role of faculty preceptor for many graduate nursing students completing teaching practicums.

Murray received the Helen Yura Award for Excellence in Graduate Nursing and was inducted into Sigma Theta Tau International (STTI), The Nursing Honor Society, Epsilon Chi Chapter in 1981. In 2003 she was recognized with an Outstanding Faculty Member Award from a senior nursing student and was named the Most Inspiring Faculty Member by the College of Health Sciences graduate with the highest GPA in 2006. She served on many committees within the School of Nursing, College and University, most notably the College of Health Sciences Awards Committee and the University Parking Committee.

Murray's community service included membership on the Norfolk Commission on Aging and Physician's for Peace Global Nurse Education Committee. Since 2005 she has served as Chairperson of the Board Directors for the Hampton Roads Specialty Hospital in Newport News. Other leadership positions included roles in the Virginia Nurse's Association and the Epsilon Chi Chapter of STTI.

JOHN M. RITZ

John M. Ritz, professor of STEM education and professional studies, received a B.S. in industrial education from Purdue University, an M.S. in industrial education from the University of Wisconsin-Stout, and an Ed.D. in technology education from West Virginia University. He joined Old Dominion University in 1977 and achieved the rank of professor in 1987.

During his tenure, Ritz mentored 40 students through their Ph.D. degrees. For this service he received the University Doctoral Mentoring Award. He also served the department by chairing it for 24 years. Because of his scholarly research efforts, Ritz has more than 200 publications and was inducted into the Academy of Fellows of the Technical Foundation of America, International Technology and Engineering Educators Association, and Virginia Technology and Engineering Educators Association. In 1993 he was selected as Technology Teacher Educator of the Year. He also earned the title of Distinguished Technology Educator. Through his research, Ritz brought outside funding to the University from the National Science Foundation, Department of Defense, and Virginia Department of Education totaling over $2.6 million.

JOANNE SCHEIBMAN

Joanne Scheibman received a B.A. in linguistics and Spanish, an M.A. in linguistics, and a Ph.D. in linguistics (with distinction) from the University of New Mexico. She joined Old Dominion as an assistant professor of English in 2000, achieved the rank of associate professor in 2006 and was designated a University Professor in 2008.

Scheibman was the recipient of the College of Arts & Letters Robert L. Stern Award for Excellence in Teaching in 2004. As one of four linguists in the Department of English, she has taught a range of courses for English and Education majors, the M.A. program in Applied Linguistics, and the English Ph.D. She has been a member of 121 M.A. Applied Linguistics oral examination committees and has also served on exam committees for students in the department's M.A. and Ph.D. programs. She has chaired or been a member of 11 thesis and dissertation committees for M.A. and M.F.A. students in English and for Ph.D. students in the College of Education and in linguistic programs at other universities. Her service as graduate program director of the M.A. in applied linguistics (2007, 2009-2013) was highlighted by the mentoring of several cohorts of Fulbright students from countries, such as Namibia, Gaza, Afghanistan, Senegal, and Indonesia.

Scheibman's research concerns the role of language use in shaping meaning and grammatical structure. Her publication record includes a single-authored book, 16 referred articles and book chapters, and her research is consistently cited in top journals in linguistics, cognitive science, and education. She has presented her work at a variety of national and international conferences and has been an invited speaker at symposia at Rice University, Stanford University, Lund University in Sweden, and the Universidade de Vigo in Spain.

CAROL SIMPSON

Carol Simpson received a B.S. in geology from the University of Wales and a Ph.D. in geology from the ETH, Zurich, Switzerland. She joined Old Dominion as provost and professor of ocean, earth and atmospheric sciences in 2008 and served in that role until 2015. Highlights of her accomplishments as Provost include establishment of the College of Continuing Education and Professional Development and the Center for Cyber Security Education and Research, co-chairing the University's Strategic Plan 2014-2019, and establishment of the Strome Entrepreneurial Center. Simpson also oversaw the successful 2012 SACSCOC Reaffirmation of Accreditation, established the Department of Modeling, Simulation and Visualization Engineering, established a Doctor in Engineering degree, created (with the Faculty Senate) a new category of Faculty of Practice, developed an emphasis on Academic Enhancement through effective advising, and established an annual Graduate Research Achievement Day.

Simpson has served as the major professor for five master's students, five doctoral students, and six post-doctoral fellows at previous universities. While serving as provost and professor at Old Dominion University, she co-advised two master's students and two undergraduate senior theses and was the major advisor for a third senior thesis. She created and taught a freshman course on Natural Disasters (UNIV 195) and recently developed the materials into a full, 4-credit, e-course book for the Ocean, Earth and Atmospheric Sciences department.

Simpson's administrative experience prior to joining Old Dominion University incudes: Chair of the Department, Earth Sciences, Boston University (1995-1999); Associate Provost for Research and Graduate Education, Boston University (1999-2005); and Provost of Worcester Polytechnic Institute (2005-2008). After joining Old Dominion, she served on the Chief Academic Officers committee of the Colonial Athletic Alliance (2008-2013; chair in 2010-11), was a member of SCHEV's Instructional and Professional Advisory Committee (2008-2015), served on the SCHEV Outstanding Faculty Awards selection committee, and was selected to represent the provosts of all Virginia Public Colleges and Universities at a Special SCHEV meeting in 2013 on the future of higher education in Virginia. She chaired the Career Contribution Award Committee for the Geological Association of America's Structural Geology and Tectonics Division in 2009 and 2010 and continued her professional Editorial Board activities for the International Journal of Earth Sciences through 2010. Honors obtained while at Old Dominion include: Honorary Inductee of Phi Kappa Phi and the Golden Key International Honour Society (2009); "Most Powerful and Influential Woman" award (2010), National Diversity Council; 2011 NACADA Region 2 Outstanding Advising Advocate Award; and "Famous Former" (2012), Girl Scout Council of Colonial Coast.

Simpson's research concerns structural geology with an emphasis on high ductile strains in tectonic fault zones. She has obtained over $2M in research grant funds and has more than 50 refereed publications and approximately 100 published conference presentations.

JUDITH M. ST. GEORGE

Judith M. St. George received a Bachelor of Science in Nursing from Boston College and a Master of Science in Nursing from Old Dominion University with completion of the Family Nurse Practitioner program. She joined the staff of Old Dominion University Student Health Services in 1997 as a Family Nurse Practitioner. She has been nationally certified continuously as a Family Nurse Practitioner by the American Nurses Credentialing Center since 1997.
St. George was promoted to Clinical Supervisor at Student Health Services in 2001, with responsibility for supervising nurse practitioners and nurses. She served as a preceptor for numerous ODU Family Nurse Practitioner students in training. She received numerous accolades by name from students on satisfaction surveys. It is estimated that St. George had over 40,000 face-to-face health care visits with students. In addition, she worked diligently to help prepare the clinical area for multiple AAAHC accreditation site surveys.

Over the almost 20 years that she was at Old Dominion University, St. George received several Class Act Awards, Immediate Recognition Awards, and was selected by her co-workers as the Yon Most Valuable Person for fall 2006. She also served the community by volunteering regularly at the Chesapeake Care Free Clinic, providing services for low income or uninsured women.

GEORGE WILLIAM (GW) THOMPSON III

GW Thompson earned a B.S. in psychology from Hampton University and attended the University of Maryland for a short period before being inducted into the U.S. Army. After serving three years in the Army, he earned a Master of Science in Education with an emphasis in guidance and counseling from Old Dominion University. He received a master of religious studies from the Virginia University of Lynchburg-Suffolk Extension in May 2002 and is currently enrolled in a master of divinity program at Virginia University of Lynchburg.

Thompson held several positions in advising during his 36 years at Old Dominion and currently serves as the Director of the Center for Major Exploration. He has taught freshman orientation, career exploration and human services counseling classes. He has also facilitated workshops on goal setting, career/major planning and academic success.

Thompson received many honors including the President's Diversity Champion Award in 2014 and the J. Worth Pickering Administrator of the Year Award in 1996. He was inducted into Phi Kappa Phi, the Educational Honor Society at Old Dominion University in 2002. In 2008, he received the National Academic Advising Association's Outstanding Advisor Administrator Award for the Mid-Atlantic region.

Thompson has presented at more than 20 national and regional conferences on topics such as the completion agenda, multicultural advising and major and career exploration.
