WELCOME, UN SECRETARY-GENERAL ANTÓNIO GUTERRES

UNITED NATIONS
MESSAGE TO THE OLD DOMINION UNIVERSITY
MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE
NORFOLK, 16 – 19 FEBRUARY 2023

Thank you for taking part in this Model United Nations conference and for believing in the power of global cooperation to solve global problems.

We need your engagement and ideas today more than ever. Conflict, poverty, hunger, and inequalities are on the rise. A surge of mistrust and misinformation is polarizing people and paralyzing societies. Human rights are under assault. And the triple planetary crisis — climate disruption, pollution, and catastrophic biodiversity loss — is threatening lives and livelihoods everywhere.

But we can turn things around. Humanity has shown time and again that we are capable of great things when we work together — across geographies and generations.

To do so, we need an inclusive and networked multilateralism — one that ensures young people have a seat and a say in shaping our common future.

We need your creativity, courage, and commitment. I draw hope from seeing your generation challenge the status quo and call for transformative change. The United Nations is your steadfast ally in striving to build a more just, sustainable, inclusive, and peaceful world for all.

António Guterres, Secretary-General United Nations

WELCOME, ODUMUNC SECRETARY-GENERAL AND DIRECTOR-GENERAL

OLD DOMINION UNIVERSITY MODEL UNITED NATIONS 46 16 – 19 FEBRUARY 2023

Esteemed Delegates, Faculty and Guests,

On the behalf of the ODUMUNC Secretariat, we are enthused to welcome you all to Old Dominion University's Model United Nations Conference, ODUMUNC 46. After two grueling years on Zoom, we are so excited to be live, back at the Norfolk Sheraton Waterside Hotel!

ODU is the first public university in the United States to implement the Every Campus a Refuge (ECAR) program, a global program to provide support and resources for refugees. As the first public institution to participate, we thought a discussion of the experiences of refugees significant, and we chose the conference theme of Self Determination and Repairing Statelessness for ODUMUNC 46. Through our committees and topics, the ODUMUNC Secretariat will bring their tribulations to light.

MUN is a wonderful tool to grow as a person through the knowledge of international affairs and expanding your connection to the global community. At ODU's Model United Nations, we hope all participants approach these topics with sensitivity and nuance, and emerge with new stories of international problem-solving. No matter your student's country or crisis character, we are confident everyone will thoroughly enjoy ODUMUNC 46, back in person for 2023!

Ana Camacho, Secretary-General Sophie Rofheart, Director-General ODU Model United Nations Conference XLVI

KEYNOTE SPEAKER: DEAN LAURA DELBRUGGE, PHD

In July 2022, Old Dominion University named Laura Delbrugge Dean of the College of Arts and Letters, the University's largest and most diverse college.

"I am delighted and honored to be joining Old Dominion's College of Arts and Letters at such an exciting time for the college and University. I am looking forward to working with the college faculty and staff on behalf of our outstanding students, and my family and I are eager to become part of the ODU and Hampton Roads communities," said Delbrugge.

Delbrugge earned her Bachelor's degree in Spanish from Central College in Iowa and her Master's degree and Doctorate in Spanish from The Pennsylvania State University. Her research focuses on Spanish medieval literature and includes scholarly editions of the Spanish medieval religious author and astrologer Andrés de Li, and the medieval devotional Gamaliel.

For more than two decades, Delbrugge taught and held leadership roles at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, culminating in her previous position as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Clarion University of Pennsylvania. She oversaw college strategic planning and both onsite and distance education course delivery.

In addition to her notable academic and administrative leadership accomplishments, Delbrugge has demonstrated her commitment to expanding student opportunity, success and affordability. She has also made advocacy for diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives and support for all students two of her professional priorities.

REMEMBERING JEAN-BERNARD GAZARIAN

The ODU Model UN celebrates the life of its oldest friend. Dr. Gazarian died on 18 January 2016 at the age of 93. Born in Paris, Dr. Gazarian attended the Universities of Rennes and Paris from 1940 to 1945. Fluent in six languages, he started working for the UN in 1946 as a translator. From 1966 to 1983, he was Director of the Division of General Assembly Affairs, overseeing the Secretariat of the General Assembly. He served the UN under every Secretary-General, from Trygve Lie, Dag Hammarskjold, U Thant, Kurt Waldheim, Javier Perez de Cuellar and Boutros Boutros-Ghali, to Kofi Annan. Dr. Gazarian participated in ODUMUNC from 1983 until 2008.

In recognition of his contributions to the United Nations and his special relationship with the ODU Model United Nations Society, Old Dominion University awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters in 1986. Our annual award to the school showing the greatest diplomatic skill at ODUMUNC is named in his honor.

CAUCUSING BLOCS

For countries represented at ODUMUNC 46

The 193 Member States of the UN divide into five official regional blocs: the African Group (AG) with 55 Member States, Asia-Pacific Group with 53 Member States, Eastern European Group with 23 Member States, the Latin American and Caribbean Group (GRULAC) with 33 Member States and Western European and Others Group (WEOG) with 28 Member States, including Canada and the United States), plus one observer (Israel). UN regional blocs are the basis for dividing UN responsibilities, jobs and allocations.

In practice, however, states can belong to several voting blocs, and other major groups often are more important in voting. These include:

The Non-Aligned Movement (NAM): Also known as the Group of 77 (G77), now with 120 Member States (not all present at ODUMUNC). This is the largest UN voting bloc, including nearly all states of Africa, Latin America, the Middle East, South and Southeast Asia. NAM members also caucus with their regional blocs.

African Union (AU): The AU includes all countries of the African continent, as well as adjacent island states: Madagascar, Sao Tome and Principe, and Seychelles.

Organization of American States (OAS) includes all sovereign states of North and South America, and the Caribbean, except Cuba which refuses to participate in OAS events. Several Latin American countries including Cuba caucus separately as the Bolivarian Alliance for the Americas (ALBA).

ODUMUNC FACULTY FORUM 2023

The Global Effects of the Ukraine War

Saturday 18 February, 9:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

Riverwalk Room (enter through the City Dock Restaurant)

It easy to say the war changes everything, but what does that mean in—practical terms—for other countries of the world and the United Nations? By invading a sovereign neighbor to take permanent control of its territory and people, Russian President Vladimir Putin directly challenged the assumptions that guided world politics since 1945, principles codified in the UN Charter. What can we say about the future of international relations after Russia's invasion of Ukraine?

The Faculty Forum is ODUMUNC's unique event for faculty sponsors and chaperones, the people who make the conference possible. ODUMUNC Faculty Forum presents four Old Dominion University political science professors to address the complications and implications of the 24 February 2022 invasion for the future of world order.

Participants are eligible for Continuing Education credit through Old Dominion University. Faculty Forum and break services are free to registered faculty sponsors, chaperones, their guests and ODU alumni.

Tentative Schedule

9:30 a.m. Coffee and refreshments for Faculty Sponsors and Guests

9:30 a.m. Welcome, Aaron Karp

9:45 – 11:00 a.m. American Foreign and Security Policy after Ukraine, Dr. Richard Maass, and

Chinese Foreign and Security Policy after Ukraine, Dr. Cathy Wu

11:15 – 12:30 a.m. Europe and Russia after Ukraine, Dr. Regina Karp, and

The UN after Ukraine, Aaron Karp

Dr. Cathy X. Wu is an assistant professor in the Department of Political Science & Geography and the Graduate Program in International Studies at Old Dominion University. Her research focuses on international conflict, foreign policy, and East Asian foreign relations. Her works appear in Journal of Conflict Resolution and International Studies Quarterly, as well as the Washington Post. Growing up in the southeast of China, she studied and lived in Beijing, Hong Kong, Colorado, and Texas before settling in Virginia.

Dr. Regina Karp is the Director of Old Dominion University's International Studies Programs and the Graduate Program in International Studies (GPIS). Prior to joining Old Dominion University, Dr. Karp served as a Senior Researcher and Project Leader at the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute (SIPRI), as well as at research institutes in New York and Stanford University. Her current scholarship focuses on international security, transatlantic relations, and European security as well as German and Swedish security identity.

She grew up on a farm in Germany's Black Forest, before leaving for England where she earned her PhD at the University of Lancaster. Maybe with that farm in mind, today she keeps pet chickens, who help her enjoy the garden.

Dr. Richard W. Maass is Associate Professor of Political Science at Old Dominion University and the U.S. foreign policy and international relations coordinator in ODU's Graduate Program in International Studies. He is the author of The Picky Eagle: How Democracy and Xenophobia Limited U.S. Territorial Expansion (Cornell University Press, 2020) and co-editor of The United States and International Law: Paradoxes of Support across Contemporary Issues (University of Michigan Press, 2022).

He grew up in Connecticut and studied at Middlebury College in Vermont and the University of Notre Dame. He enjoys playing and designing board games — having published one of his designs so far — as well as exploring Virginia with his wife and two children. Find him on Twitter @richardmaass

Professor Aaron Karp is senior lecturer in political science at Old Dominion, where he teaches American foreign policy, international relations, international relations theory, technology and war, weapons of mass destruction, and directs the ODU Model UN program.

His early research contributed to creation of the Missile Technology Control Regime (MTCR). As a consultant to the United Nations Secretary-General he was principal author of the report that helped lead to creation of the African Nuclear Weapons Free Zone in 1996. As Consultant to the UN Secretary-

GENERAL RULES AND PROCEDURES

Position Papers: Position papers are not required at ODUMUNC, but strongly encouraged for every delegate. Position papers should specifically address your country's positions on the agenda of the relevant body. They should be single spaced, no more than two pages. Position papers are collected at the start of each committee by the committee staff. They evaluate them for committee awards. Although not required for awards, they are encouraged and add points in award judging. Position papers may be distributed to other delegations on your committee, but authors are responsible for copying and distribution.

Opening debate: A session is opened through a motion to open debate. The first motion after opening debate is to open a speaker's list. Parameters for the speakers list are to be requested by the body, with the consent of the chair.

General Debate: delegations present their priorities for the conference, before a topic has been selected.

Setting a Topic: A topic must be set by the body through a motion and a simple majority vote. Once a topic is set, a second speaker's list is opened.

Formal vs. Informal Debate: All bodies are opened under Formal Debate, which only allows for a speaker's list with no questions. Informal debate, which allows for questions in a speaker's list, must be requested by motion and passed.

Speaker's List: Delegates are added to the speaker's list or called upon to speak by the chair. A speaker's list does not expire unless debate is closed or the body enters voting procedure.

Yielding: When on a speaker's list, delegates may yield to the chair, another delegate, or if parameters allow, to questions. Once a second delegate has been yielded to, that delegate may yield remaining time to the chair only. If a delegate refuses to yield for a question, they may not take any other questions.

Moderated Caucus: Moderated Caucuses have a set duration, speaking times, and topic. All this must be requested in a motion. Speakers are called on one at a time. If no more speakers are willing to speak, the caucus ends and the body reverts to the previous speaker's list.

Unmoderated Caucus: An Unmoderated Caucus has a set time duration only. Delegates are free to meet. The chair retains the right to request a topic, however.

Crisis Directives: For Crisis simulations only, Directives require a simple majority of the body to pass.

Working paper: an unofficial draft, still controlled by its sponsors, it changes by agreement of sponsors.

Draft resolution: a Working Paper that is accepted and numbered by the dais, controlled by the chair, changes only through amendment. Draft Resolutions require one-fifth the body present as sponsors to be considered for voting.

Merging Drafts: the chair, at their discretion, may requests sponsors of similar drafts to combine their drafts into a single draft for further consideration.

Friendly Amendments: require approval by all the sponsors of the corresponding draft resolution, and the minimum number of signatories. They are voted on together with their corresponding draft resolution.

Unfriendly Amendments: If a sponsor of a corresponding draft resolution requests, an amendment becomes unfriendly. Unfriendly Amendments are voted on together with their corresponding draft resolution.

Closing Debate: Debate must be closed to move into voting procedure.

Voting Procedure: Voting is requested by motion after debate is closed. Doors are closed, observers leave the room or move to the side as requested by the Chair. Default voting is by placard vote. Delegates may request by motion a roll call vote, subject to decision of the Chair.

Censoring: The Chair may censor a delegate for the duration of one committee session in response to repeated disruptions or disciplinary warnings by the Chair.

CONDUCT

Delegate Conduct

Delegates are expected to remain courteous and professional at all times. Courteous and professional conduct can be best practiced by remaining in character during committee sessions, treating other delegates with respect and collaborating in a constructive manner, maintaining dignified behavior during all conference events and on hotel property, and by refraining from any consumption of alcohol and other illegal substances.

Any violation of these terms can lead to dismissal from conference activities. ODUMUNC has a zero tolerance policy for harassment or consumption of alcohol or illicit substances by delegates.

Delegate Dress

Delegate dress at ODUMUNC sessions must be professional, promoting a serious deliberative atmosphere, and never distracting. Standard delegate attire at conference sessions is Western business attire: jacket and tie for men and comparably formal for women; dress shoes for all delegates during sessions. Bring walking shoes for after. Specifically:

- Delegates are required to wear conference badges at all ODUMUNC sessions and events.
- Name badge mistakes will be corrected for free, but lost badges require a replacement fee.
- T-shirts, jeans, shorts, miniskirts or sandals are not allowed in conference sessions.
- National clothing matching your country assignment is permitted so long as it is formal and not mocking or distracting, as judged by ODUMUNC staff.
- Official conference T-shirts are permitted at non-deliberative events and at Sunday conference sessions only.
- Casual attire is fine outside formal meeting times, at non-deliberative events, karaoke and the delegate dance, so long as it is not distracting, as judged by ODUMUNC staff.
- ODUMUNC staff reserve the right to request that delegates violating these rules to leave or change into appropriate clothing immediately.

As a practical rule, if you are not sure about it, do not wear it.

By registering and submitting participants' names, sponsors grant Old Dominion University and the ODU Model United Nations Society permission to use their school's participants' names and/or photographs in ODU publications and media both in print and electronic versions.

CONFERENCE SERVICES

Complete Rules of Procedure and Resolution templates are available on the ODU-MUN website (www.odu.edu/mun) and on the computers in the Computer Room (Riverview). Limited quantities of hard copies are available at Conference Services.

Computer Room (Wilton Room) is the place to type resolutions that have been approved. Free internet access is available in the hotel lobby and with payment in your hotel room.

Home Government is the place to go for background information and assistance about your country and its positions. Your committee staff are neutral facilitators; they can advise delegates on procedure (such as how to get things done), but they cannot advise delegates on matters of substance (such as their country's position). Substantive positioning is the business of Member State delegates and their sovereign governments.

Treat Home Government like your country's own government. It's the place to stop for substantive policy advice on your country's position on any issue. Regardless of the issue, our policy experts can get you the answer you need, or they will find it quickly. They can help with resolution writing, speech preparation, or factual research. Committee staff can ask Home Government to fill in for missing delegations with a crucial role to play on a specific issue.

Pages are students from area schools volunteering to make your conference a success. Feel welcome to turn to them for in-conference messaging. Respect their essential contribution and effort by showing them full diplomatic courtesy.

AWARDS

Conference awards are presented at the closing ceremony on Sunday, 19 February. Awards offer the staff a chance to acknowledge the preparation, dedication, and realistic effort of conference delegates and delegations.

Secretary-General's Award for the Best Delegation and Outstanding Delegation These are ODUMUNC's highest commendations for the schools that excel in the broadest range of conference committees and simulations, stressing national realism, overall effectiveness, productivity and preparation. The award decisions are made using recommendations from the staff of each committee to the Secretariat-General.

Jean-Bernard Gazarian Award for the Most Diplomatic Delegation

Named for the UN official long associated with ODUMUNC, the Gazarian Award recognizes the delegation that stands out for diplomatic effort, measured in its contribution to the problem solving measured in final committee outputs. The Secretariat-General and committee chairs jointly decide the Gazarian award recipient.

Committee Awards

Each ODUMUNC committee or body gives one Best Delegation award to the delegation or delegate who best exemplifies the goals of the committee, as well as Outstanding and Honorable Mention awards. Each body's staff chooses award winners on the basis of each delegation's realistic portrayal, overall effectiveness, productivity, and preparation.

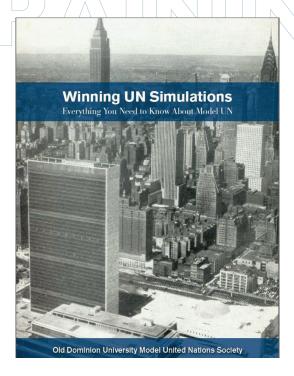

TRAINING SESSIONS

ODUMUNC Intro to the General Assembly and other large bodies Thursday 16 February 7:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m. York Hall

Hosted by ODUMUNC staff, this session is meant to quickly familiarize delegates on the basics of Model UN and provide some helpful hints and strategies for debating effectively in large committees, useful whether this is your first conference or your 50th. Staff review procedures and rules, give tips from the dais, and share some insights from the college conference team. Recommended for all participants in large bodies.

ODUMUNC Crisis Training: Security Council, Crisis Bodies and Small Bodies Thursday, 16 February p.m. 7:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m. Poplar Hall

Hosted by the ODUMUNC crisis staff, this session reviews crisis committee rules and procedures at ODUMUNC. The discussion for crisis delegates will center on the nature of a crisis simulation, portfolio powers, deliberative procedure and strategy for moving topics. Recommended for all participants in crisis simulations and smaller bodies.
